

consumer products

consumer products

Product liability claims involving consumer products raise unique problems because of the combination of mass marketing and consumer protection laws. Our lawyers have acted on some of the largest and most complex consumer products cases in Canada. We have defended manufacturers and distributors in class actions alleging misrepresentation, non-disclosure and consumer deception and involving products ranging from vitamins to plumbing products.

Our lawyers know the relevant regulatory requirements for the labelling and sale of consumer products in Canada and can provide advice to help you reduce the risk of consumer product claims. American and European counsel regularly look to our lawyers for advice on regulatory requirements and recalls for a wide variety of consumer products.

helpful links:

Consumer Packaging and Labelling Act \(R.S., 1985, c. C-38\)

Hazardous Products Act \(R.S., 1985, c. H-3\)

Health Canada

Textile Labelling Act \(R.S., 1985, c. T-10\)

Consumer Protection Act

Canadian Standards Association

Underwriters Laboratories Canada

Technical Standards and Safety Authority

<< RETURN to Product Liability Litigation